BLUE GIRL'S DEFEAT AND SHAW'S RIDE WIDELY DISCUSSED.

What the Jockey and "Pittsburg Phil" Have to Say-Stewards May Take Action To-day-Annual Champion Stakes to Be Run Next Saturday.

chief topic of conversation yesterday was the defeat of Blue Girl in the Great Filly Stakes by Leonora Loring and the request made by William C. Whitney that the stew-ards should investigate Shaw's ride on the Sir Dixon filly. The stewards will begin an official investigation to-day. The sheets on official investigation to-day. The sheets on the race in question were seized by Robert Pinkerton on Saturday as soon as it became known that Mr. Whitney wanted to have things looked into. There is no doubt that the layers won heavily on the race, but it is hardly probable that any of them laid better than 4 to 5 against the favorite. It was said yesterday that in certain pool rooms, controlled by a well-known combine, Blue Girl and the Whitney Stable were "laid against," even to the extent of even money. Whether this is true or not cannot be shown just now, but the fact remains that among the sporting men along upper Broadway on doing that was widely circulated.

While Mr. Whitney in his public statement has been very careful to avoid anything that might reflect upon the honesty of Shaw his intimate friends assert that the millionaire turfman is fully convinced that Shaw, did not try to win, that he was influenced by somebody or some power unknown to keep Blue Girl back, and that his ride, to say the least, was worthy of a severe punishment. Nine out of ten horsemen who saw Saturday's race declare that Shaw's ride could not have race declare that Shaw's ride could not have been worse, and that it would be for the best ets of the turf if the stewards resorted interests of the turf if the stewards resorted to drastic measures. Racing has the phenomenal support of the public this year. Confidence has been placed in the sport of kings because of the honesty and integrity of the men who centrel it. For that reason the public, seeking protection and fair play, the public to the public this year. is anxious to see wrongdoing, if there is any, so severely dealt with that the sport may not be permanently blackened. The fact that Shaw and his immediate employer. 'Pittsburg Phil,' have already attracted the attention of the racing authorities by the result of the St Finnan-Latson race at Baratoga has caused widespread interest in Mr. Whitney's protest. In ex-plaining his ride on Blue Giri Shaw said

I got away from the post well, but was slightly interfered with and was soon thrown back into a bunch of horses. I made a move o go through just as we approached the cond, but was carried to the outside by Jo-ephs. Rounding the bend Blue Girl was as close as possible to the bunch on the outto straighten her up for the run in As soon as she was straight, I started to ride very anxious to win the race for Mr. Josepha pushed me to the outside, as I made run to get through an opening "

"Pittsburg Phil" says that he did not bet en any horse to win, but placed $50 and $500 third on Lux Castar, as he heard that Dave Gideon and others were playing that filly to win. "Pitteburg Pall" says he is in streak of hard luck, having lost the last wenty-two bets. If a motive for pulling Blue Girl can be discovered by the stewards it is likely to go hard with Shaw. As it is, turfmen believe that the jockey will receive alpably incompetent ride. The fact that a nearly every big race this year the favorin nearly every big race this year the favorite, backed by thousands of people, has invariably been defeated, which, of course, has filled the bookmakers' pookets with fortunes, has come to be regarded as significant,
If Nasturtium had won the Futurity and Blue Girl had captured the Great Filly Stakes,

PLAY BEGINS FOR NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TO-DAY. Committee of U. S. G. A. Discusses Critteni

Condition of the President - McDonald and Lockwood Make Good Scores in Trinis at Atlantic City-Gossip. ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 8 .- On the eve of the seventh annual amateur golf champlonhip of the United States the players have een waiting with suspense in fear that President McKinley's wound would result fatally. The officials of the United States G. A. and the players who have assembled here from all parts of the country are united in sorrow for the President and in condemnation of the terrible crime. The naws of the day has been cheering, yet the Executive Committee of the United States G. A. is now in special session considering what action should be taken should the President die. Once the tournament starts that it will have to be carried out, for many of the contestants have made long journeys at a heavy expense to take part, but the clubhouse would be draped with mourning and the players wear mourning badges. The news to-day was so encouraging that the meeting did not bring out any formal action on the matter, but informally it is stated that this is the action that will be taken in event of the President's death.

Burt McKinney of the St. Louis Field Club, who states that his entry has gone astray, and W. B. Cheney of the Oxford Golf Club, who sent his entry by mistake to the Secre-tary of the Atlantic City Country Club, appeared before the meeting and asked to have their names added to the list of entries

McKinney has made a round in 77 and Cheney has also been doing well and both are anxious to start. Mckinney has telegraphed to his friends in St. Louis to telephone their evi-dence that he had duly forwarded the entry. H M Harriman of Meadow Brook, whose entry went astray in 1898, the two disputed

A special train will leave for the links at 6:20 o'clock to-morrow morning so that there will be no delay in getting the first pair off at 7 o'clock, the scheduled time. It looks now as though 174 to 130 of the 140 entries will start. To make a sure thing of fluishing on time all who have no show of qualifying on their morning score will be cut out of the afternoon round. It will be nearly impossible for more than 110 players to finish under afternoon round. It will be nearly impossible for more than 110 players to finish under the four-minute headway first arranged and it was agreed at the meeting that those who made 100 or lower in the first round would receive the preference in starting in the afternoon, while those who scored over 100 will be dropped to the bottom of the list and a new pairing arranged for them.

The putting greens are fast but thin in turf and not over true, yet, aithough a number of new traps have been put in since the college boys held their tournament in May, the course is faster now than it was then. The consensus of opinion is that the low score of last year, the 165 made by Travis, will be beaten to-morrow in the qualifying round. For one thing the course is 800 yards shorter than Garden City and 160 seems to be a conservative estimate for the low score. The favorites to win the amateur championship this time are: F. S. Douglas, W. J. Travis, the title holder, and A. C. Lockwood. It is conceded, however, that some of the young homebrede may have a great chance, but few care to pick one of them out to be the winner. Who the gold medal winner will be no one will dare to venture an opinion. There have been so many records made this week, the old amateur mark of 79 having been cut down by half a dozen, that a comparative unknown player may make the low score. This has happened before, as when Joseph H. Choate, Jr., won the gold medal in 1888, but the scorer at medal play has seldom lasted out the match game. Whigham and Travis have been the only ones to win at both the medal and match play ends of the championship.

There was a great throng on the links to-day. The best score wes made by C. B. MacDonaid, for two years the gold medal winner. He drove two balls out of bounds yet made a 77. His card was:

The sole representative of the Westbrook Goif Club, Louis Livingston, Jr., was on his game and Allan Kennaday, the New Jersey State champion, was also in the fettle. Their cards follow.

Percy Pyne, 2d, the former intercollegiate champion, made this score:
Out 4 5 5 4 6 4 6 3 4 41
In 5 4 6 4 5 4 5 4 59 50 These cards show how the golfers are playing and, although scores made in practice rounds are generally a percentage better than the real work in the medal round, the day's play seems to indicate that the Garden City scoring will be beaten. The best known of the beastern men down to start in the first hour, between 7 and 8 o'clock, will be A. F. Smith and Harrison Townsend, Frank H. Croker and Samuel Daizell, Bruce Price and C. M. The sensational brushes of the day were two in which Quarterstake was beaten. This horse is seldom speeded on the driveway by his owner and when he is he is usually victorious. The first one to administer defeat to him yesterday was C. K. Robinson's Hindoo Boy, 2185, driven by Josh Rogers. They went the full mile and Hindoo Boy simply outstepped Quarterstake and won easily by three or four lengths.

The second defeat was given to Quarterstake by the unmarked pacer Truxon. Issue was turned with these two and the three came down together Quarterstake had considerably the best of the start, but Truxon took command before the half was reached and finished a winner by three lengths. With regard to Quarterstake, it is only fuir to say that he was heaked to a heavy, old-fashioned four-whoeled road wagot with iron tires, while the others were hitched to speed carts. He time for the distance was 5 minutes 8 2-5 seconds. The old record credited to John A Rumohr of the Harlem Rowing Club, now a professional, was 5 minutes 27 seconds. The trial was arranged two or three days ago and it was intended to have the sculler paced by an eight-cared shell. The water, however, was so rough that this part of the programme was abandoned for fear the shell might interfere with, rather than aid Titus. With the exception of the rough water the conditions were favorable, both wind and tide assisting the sculler.
